

TMAC Direct

Executive Recruiting Services

TMAC Direct is an executive search firm that helps biopharmaceutical, medical device, and diagnostics companies scale through product development, medical affairs, and commercialization. TMAC Direct is a service of The Medical Affairs Company, providing life science companies a complete suite of staffing services as they look to grow their departments with top talent. Under the leadership of Michael Pietrack, widely recognized as the biopharmaceutical industry's leading third party recruiter, the TMAC Direct team has a unique platform where each recruiter is a domain expert. Because each team member has a highly specialized expertise with a well-developed network of passively looking candidates, our clients are availed to a candidate pool they cannot access any other way. Both leading and emerging companies utilize TMAC Direct to hand deliver specifically qualified candidates quickly, and they appreciate having a one source solution for filling positions in multiple departments. Our thorough process produces successful, long-term matches.

If time is of the essence and you cannot afford a mis-hire, why not tap into TMAC Direct's robust and proprietary network to secure your next hire?

Why TMAC Direct?
